A TERRIBLE MISTAKE.

Mistaking his bride for a burglar,

William A. Thomas, 23 years old, of Philadelphia, fired upon her early yesterday morning. She fell to the floor, a bullet wound in her abdomen. Her screams of agony revealed the mistake to the husband.

A policeman, attracted by the report of the revolver, arrested the husband. He was held to await the result of his wife's injuries. Mrs. Thomas is 21 years old and was known before her wedding as the prettiest girl in the neighborhood. Because of the heat, Thomas was in that condition which is half sleep, half wakefulness, when a noise from another part of the house roused him.

Many burglaries have recently been committed in the neighborhood, and the man jumped to the conclusion that thieves were in his home. With his revolver, he silently crept into the hallway. He listened intently. The noise was repeated. It came from another room on the second floor. Thomas held his revolver ready for immediate action, and made his way down the hallway. It was extremely dark. He saw something white glide out of the bathroom door. Thomas fired pointblank at the object in white. There rang out the agonized scream of his bride.

"I've shot my wife!" Thomas screamed to neighbors. "Send for a policeman and an ambulance." He opened the front door, and women came in and attended the wounded woman.

"I want to be punished for this," groaned Thomas. He said he was satisfied when the door of a cell was locked behind him.

MURDER MYSTERY.

The body of a young woman, richly dressed, was found floating face downward in Teal's Pond, ten miles from Troy, N. Y., yesterday, and it is believed she was murdered.

The body evidently had been in the water for at least a week, but there was no water in the lungs. The doctors found on the back of the head a ugly wound, which, they say, was made by a blunt instrument like a wrench, and caused death.

Chris Crape, proprietor of a hotel about two miles from the pond, has told the district attorney that while sitting on his hotel veranda about 2 o'clock on the morning of July 4 a large automobile, without lights, and driven at high speed, passed his place. He is positive there were two men and a woman in the machine. Shortly afterward the automobile whizzed by and there were only two persons to be seen.

COURAGEOUS ENGINEER.

Engineer Martin and Fireman Arndt, of a Washington-Southern train, had a thrilling experience near Richmond yesterday, and but for Martin's coolness they might have been a serious wreck.

While the train was speeding eastward at 50 miles an hour a fire in the boiler blew out, and when Arndt opened the furnace door flames were forced into the cab by escaping steam and he was completely enveloped. He threw himself from the cab to the side of the track as the only means of escape.

Martin realized his own danger, but he closed the throttle and crawled through the windows to the running board alongside the boiler. The train ran a distance of two miles with Martin, badly burned, clinging to the side of the engine before it came to a stop. Arndt was found by the track five miles away, unconscious, and was brought to a hospital in Richmond.

GUFFEY'S TRAIN ATTACKED.

The train bearing the Pennsylvania anti-Bryan delegates home from the Denver convention was attacked by thugs, just as the train was entering St. Louis on the Missouri Pacific Railroad, at 4 o'clock yesterday evening. On the side of the car Pelham, which was the last car on the train, was a steamer announcing the fact that the car contained the Pennsylvania delegation. It is believed that some persons, bitter against the Guffeys for their opposition to Bryan, planned the attack.

The train was running at a high rate of speed, just inside St. Louis, when suddenly there was a fusillade of rocks, bricks, and bullets from revolvers. Col. J. M. Guffey, whom the gang evidently intended to injure, was in a state room in the forward end of the car, and escaped as did also the others on the train.

"That Good Whisky"

Made in 1901.

MONDAY EVENING, JULY 13, 1908.

By issuing orders for extraordinary haste in the letting of contracts for federal supplies for the new fiscal year, President Roosevelt has turned a trick that he and his friends regard as just about the smartest thing that has ever been done in the interest of a political campaign. The government has $750,000,000 to spend this year for supplies, public buildings, etc. This money is available since July 1. Usually this annual supply budget is gradually disbursed through the year, as the supplies are needed. This time, if the administration can manage it, the whole pile is to be spent before election. Of course the reason put forward for this undue haste is that there is great need to revive the general business of the country. To this argument, of course, it is hard for anybody to offer objection. But it is very well-known in all official circles that there wouldn't be any such hurry if it wasn't intended for the benefit of Taft campaign. Mr. Roosevelt and the Taft managers realize very keenly that unless there is a quick return of prosperous business conditions the republican party will face a hopeless campaign. Therefore, it is decided that there has got to be a quick return of prosperity, even if it takes the last spare dollar in the public treasury to bring it about.

The two New York papers controlled by William Randolph Hearst—the American and the Journal—published the same editorial Saturday on the Denver ticket and declaring that the nomination of Bryan offered no hope or promise of relief. This should do Mr. Bryan more good than harm among sensible people who know Mr. Hearst to be a cheap demagogue and a political faker. Everyone who knows Mr. Hearst knows that he does not write the editorials for his papers—he has not the ability.

The republicans are sending out the statement that reports from many sections of the country indicate a rapid return to prosperous conditions, largely induced by confidence in Taft's election. This of course is to catch the unwary. The country has suffered and is suffering a period of severe business depression, brought about mainly through republican misrule and if conditions improve Mr. Taft's nomination will have no more to do with it than will the man in the moon.

A boarding house keeper in New York committed suicide in that city last week by inhaling illuminating gas. The woman was unable to pay her rent, and being of a sensitive nature, she could not endure the humiliation of meeting the man to whom she was indebted. The majority of the human race is not endowed with similar sensitivities. Should all who are in debt resort to suicide the population of the world would diminish materially.

A NATIONAL referendum in Switzerland on the question of prohibiting the manufacture and sale of absinthe resulted in a majority of 80,000 in favor of the prohibition. This will mean a loss to the government revenues, as the most famous brands of absinthe are made in Switzerland, but the country itself will be vastly benefited by the abolition of absinthe which is one of the most insidious and harmful liquors made.

The Louisiana legislature has established a record in making five laws a day for sixty days. This almost equals the Virginia legislative record for making laws during the closing days of the session.

From Washington.

(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.)

Washington, July 13.—The Postoffice Department today issued a fraud order against the Mail Order Merchants' Association, conducted by Baltimore, by F. C. Cross. Postoffice inspectors say that Cross advertised for agents to collect special names and addresses, offering to pay from 5 cents to $1 for them. To applicants for "agency," Cross, it is alleged, demanded 35 cents for a blank book in which to enter the names. Postoffice inspectors declared that after the 35 cents was forthcoming, Cross absconded with the money and paid no attention to the claims of his dupes for payment for names.

A dispatch was received at the State Department from Consul Duty, at Fairbury, notifying the department that localists had robbed a business house in which the chancellor of the United States consulate resided, of $30,000. The chancellor is an official connected with the consulate but inasmuch as he suffered no personal loss no explanation of the incident will be asked.

Lord Grey, governor general of Canada, in a telegram transmitted through the State Department today has informed Vice President Fairbanks that the hour of 2:30 on Wednesday afternoon has been set for his visit to the prince of Wales on board the British warship Indomitable. The cruiser will probably arrive sometime tomorrow for the tercentenary celebration of the founding of Quebec.

Naval Constructor W. G. Grosbeck

has been designated by the department as assistant to Constructor Baxter, who will superintend the construction of the battleship Florida at the navy yard, Brooklyn. Preparations are now under way for the construction of the vessel at the government plant and bids for all the material required will be issued shortly by the department to prevent any delay in construction. The department has not yet decided whether or not the vessel shall be equipped with turbine engines.

The appointment of a successor to Milton D. Purdy, assistant to the attorney general, will be postponed for some time, on account of the failure of Wade Ellis, of Ohio, the probable successor, to reach here for a conference with Attorney General Bonaparte.

Reports from Central America received at the State Department today indicate that the situation which the United States and Mexico are using their good offices to relieve, is far from reassuring. It is said here that the U. S. Marines are soon to be withdrawn from the isthmus of Panama, now that the election there is over.

Thomas R. Martin, one time a prosperous real estate dealer of Washington, today pleaded guilty to charges of embezzlement and forgery, and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary at Mount Vernon.

The feeling between the negroes and the whites in this city seems to be growing more intense. Last night three young white boys were attacked and stabbed by two giant negroes in the Mall Park. The negroes were arrested. Right of way on the side walk was the cause of the trouble.

THE SOUTHERN REPUBLICS.

Honduras and Nicaragua have instituted suits before the Central American Court of Justice against Salvador and Guatemala, charging the defendant countries with promoting the revolution in Honduras and aiding Nicaraguan refugees.

The Honduran revolutionists have abandoned the town of Graciosa, which they recently captured, and have fled into Salvador. Should the revolutionists win in Honduras, it is said, Manuel Bonilla will be made president and General Vazquez will lead an army into Nicaragua, and, if victorious, be made the president.

President Cabrera, of Guatemala, is declared to be instigating the disorders in Honduras, so as to bring three of the Central American republics under his influence.

The Guatemalan government is arranging to entertain the Pan-American Medical Congress, which is to convene in Guatemala City.

The presidential elections throughout the isthmus of Panama passed off yesterday without disturbance. Senator Don Jose Domingo de Obaldia, formerly Minister to the United States and acting president in the absence of Dr. Amador, was elected president. The supporters of Ricardo Arias, who recently withdrew his candidacy, decided not to vote, and no opponent to Senator Obaldia was placed in nomination.

FAMOUS EX-CONFEDERATE DEAD.

Jack Flemming, who won renown during the civil war by taking the Confederate cruiser, Tallahassee out through the eastern passage of Halifax harbor in 1864, eluding the northern fleet that was lying in wait, is dead at Ketchikan, N. S. He was ninety-eight years old. Flemming had been a pilot for over sixty years, and while he figured in many adventures, his most famous exploit was that of the Tallahassee.

The Tallahassee was trapped in Halifax harbor while coaling by a strong northern fleet, and was given forty-eight hours by the British admiral within which to escape or surrender to the British flag. In the dead of night, Flemming took the southern cruiser down the eastern passage, a shallow uncharted channel on the eastern side of the harbor, used only by fishing boats and whaling broke the Tallahassee had vanished.

Talibz Being Shelled.

Berlin, July 13.—The Khivans quarter in Talibz, which has been the center of the revolution uprising, is being shelled by the soldiers of Rachin Khan, according to advices received here today. Shortly after this information was received, communication with Talibz was lost and it is impossible to learn the details of the engagement. Rachin Khan mounted many guns in the streets of Talibz following the temporary suppression of the last outbreak, which was induced more by hunger than by revolutionary spirit. The streets leading to the Khivans quarter were doubly fortified. The revolutionists have asked amnesty of the shah, but today's fighting shows that the shah considers that the revolutionists have not yet been sufficiently punished.

COMMUNICATED.

AN INQUIRY.

Who is the party to look after the drain gutters on the streets of Alexandria? I have been to the city engineer and to the police and health officers and not a single one of them will come and even look at the gutter on north Payne street. But see that the gutters on the streets they live on are in good condition. The street sprinkler also goes on their street; we hardly ever see a policeman on our street, and as for the sprinkler, we never see it unless it is on King or Washington streets or where the Council members or some official of the city live. The property owners on Payne street signed a petition to put in gutters and pay 75 cents per foot for the same. This was to be done, but nothing has been done on this street for a year to my knowledge, for I have been living on this street for this length of time yet they want your taxes and you must pay for keeping up King and Washington streets and on Payne street was in mud up to the shoe top. I for one, as a citizen of this city, think we need somebody to look after the welfare of the people. They are not getting in this section what belongs to them, and when the election comes off the people of Payne street, ought to see if they cannot put some one who will look after their interests in this matter. We need a health officer who when he is called on will go and see after the condition of these places.

A CITIZEN.

Wearing a hat and a pair of socks, with nothing between, Lewis Patrick, a recent arrival from Poland, marched up Broad street, Richmond, shortly after noon yesterday. He declared the weather was "too hot for clothes."

News of the Day.

Judge Alton B. Parker is out in an interview declaring he will support Bryan and Kern.

The Census Bureau shows that the lumber cut in 1907 exceeded by 2,705,000,000 feet the cut in 1906.

Reports from various sections of the country are to the effect that yesterday was the hottest day of the year.

Leaders of the democratic party Oyster Bay have telephoned Bryan that he will carry Oyster Bay, the president's home, by a big majority.

Twenty-three Ohioans, yesterday, leaped aboard into New York harbor from the British steamer Strathairn rather than serve on the trip.

The merger of independent telephone properties extending from the Mississippi river to the Atlantic seaboard, and embracing properties worth $100,000,000, is under way.

Mr. Bryan has received the following telegram from Herman Bidder, editor of the New York Staats-Zeitung: "You may rely on the sincere, earnest support of the Staats-Zeitung."

The peach crop of the Maryland and Delaware peninsula is estimated at 1,779,680 baskets, and the pear crop at 303,471 baskets. Hauling will begin about August 15 and the railroads are making extensive preparations to meet the demands for service.

William Earl Ambrose was formally appointed on Saturday by Justice Wright as receiver of the First Co-operative Building Association of Georgetown. Mr. Ambrose says he is unable to say how much money may be found missing but is of opinion that the total may reach $100,000.

Mayor J. E. Reymann, of Philadelphia has instituted proceedings against E. A. Van Valkenburg, editor and proprietor of the North American, and six members of the staff of the newspaper, charging them with criminal libel. The charges are based on articles and cartoons appearing in the newspaper during the last two years.

Four men lost their lives as the result of the destruction by fire of the 40-foot gasoline yacht Dolphin, owned by Arthur P. Tarbell, of Boston and Marblehead, in Buzzards Bay, Saturday night. Two others, including Mr. Tarbell, were rescued twelve hours later by a lobster fisherman, who found them floating in the water almost exhausted.

If William J. Bryan is elected president of the United States on November 3 next he will share the White House with the vice president, John W. Kern, of Indiana. "Any man who is good enough to get the nomination for vice president on the democratic ticket is good enough to live in the White House," said Mr. Bryan on Saturday.

Mr. Bryan delivered an address at Lincoln, on Saturday touching on publicity of campaign contributions and attacking the republican party. He declared the corporations have dominated politics and run the government through enormous campaign contributions and said a new era is at hand and the people will rule. Telegrams of congratulations from all sections of the land are being received by Mr. Bryan.

Jeremiah DeBell Wilson, a resident of Washington for twenty-three years and one of Mosby's Confederate rangers, died Friday evening at his home, in Washington, at the age of seventy-five years. Mr. Wilson was a well known rider of the famous black mare referred to repeatedly by Col. Mosby in his memoirs as the finest mount in the Confederate army. Repeated attempts were made to capture this horse by the Federal soldiers. Many a Confederate officer tried to buy her but all to no purpose.

"I remember no fights after they are over. Minnesota had a good man and stood by him. Mr. Johnson has telegraphed me offering his support. I have no doubt he will do much good for the ticket during the campaign." This was the reply made on Saturday by T. C. O'Brien of Minnesota, that he and his companions and come to Fairview to persuade him that Minnesota would elect her best to elect him. The convention fight was over, he said, and in the new fight all democrats would stand together against the common enemy.

New York Stock Market.

New York, July 13.—There was a generally strong tone to the stock market during the first hour. United States steel common rose 7-8, the preferred 3-8 and Union Pacific gained 1-8. The only railroad stock that showed weakness was Rock Island, preferred which sustained a fractional decline. Fluctuations were narrow in the last half of the morning, but the tone was fairly strong and rose as the afternoon advanced to only small fractions.

DANIEL AND BRYAN.

The Virginia delegation returning from the Denver convention stopped at Lincoln, Neb., on Saturday to call on Mr. Bryan.

Senator Daniel headed the delegation. Mr. Bryan met them and took the entire party out to his home, Senator Daniel and Mr. Bryan walking arm in arm.

Arriving at Fairview, Senator Daniel made a short talk, in which he said: "Whatever differences existed between the Virginians and you were settled when the gavel fell, bringing to a close the Denver convention. From that moment every democrat in Virginia was for Bryan. And we will carry the state for you this fall."

The senator said there was just one popular speech heard at the convention, and that was "Hurrah for Bryan." Mr. Bryan said he would have to be careful himself where he said that speech.

With a military gesture Senator Daniel, when the crowd lined up on the Fairview lawn, said they had come to salute their chief, that the voice of the people had been for him, and the convention had respected that call.

Mr. Bryan responded by saying that the honor of the nomination was all the more appreciated when he knew that the votes of the state in which his father was born had been added to those of the others. He said he was much pleased at the sentiments expressed by the senator and replied in a happy vein, saying:

"We expect to carry Virginia; we always have carried Virginia, and we appreciate what the senator from that state has so well said. And, furthermore, we will undoubtedly wish to call upon the most distinguished speaker of that state to assist the party in neighboring states. And I know now that we will not ask him in vain for his assistance."

"Afternoon believed in the people," said Mr. Bryan, "and it is my conviction that today the people are more nearly to accept his idea of popular control than ever before."

"As I look forward to the possibility of undertaking the responsibilities of this high office there is no much that is not inviting—the distribution of the patronage is one of the great burdens imposed upon the president. The one thing that appeals to me is the belief that if democratic principles once secure application in the popular control of government, it will give the party power for a generation."

NINE PERSONS DROWNED.

Following a day of intense heat and humidity, Baltimore was the center yesterday evening of several terrible electrical storms, accompanied by wind and rain. Several yachts and launches were capsized in the river and bay and up to midnight reports had been received of nine persons drowned.

Lightning struck in many places, splitting trees, cracking and overturning chimneys, and causing terror in a number of homes. An electric bolt tore off a part of the cornice of the Calvert building. Lightning set fire to the beautiful home of William Hyatt, near Randallstown, Baltimore county. The house, barn and other buildings were destroyed. The property loss is about $20,000.

In the suburbs the wind did great damage, and in the city a number of houses were uninhabited.

At the numerous river and bay resorts the storm was severe. The crowds of women and children became panic-stricken. Several persons were rescued from overturned boats.

In a launch capsized off Fort McHenry were eight persons, four of whom were drowned.

Three women and a man who were in another boat that was blown over perished.

The Olympic Games. London, July 13.—In the presence of kings and many lesser royalties, and before a crowd of nearly 100,000 persons, the Olympic games were begun in the Stadium this afternoon at 3 o'clock in a cheering rally.

The United States team of ninety athletes, which is looked upon as the probable winner, headed the parade, followed by the teams of other nations. They drew round after round of applause, the demonstration accorded it almost equalling that shown the English team. King George of Greece and King Haakon of Norway were present. Queen Alexandra, Duke and Duchess of Sparta, Crown Prince and Princess of Sweden, Duke and Duchess of Connaught, Duke of Argyle and scores of other title bearers were spectators.

King Edward opened the Olympiad and delivered his inaugural address. Everything points to the most successful Olympiad ever held. More athletes are in attendance than ever before. The game will last two weeks, morning and afternoon events being held. The Stadium will seat 68,000, and has standing room for 23,000. In addition to this accommodation can be found for 6,000 in a strip surrounding the field.

Automobile Accident. Louisville, Ky., July 13.—An automobile containing five of the most prominent young society persons of Louisville plunged through a broken bridge over Salt river shortly before one o'clock this morning. Every member of the party was injured severely, although it is believed they will recover. The bridge had been wrecked by a storm recently and half of it was down. The automobile gliding along at high speed in the moonlight, plunged off the bridge and fell to the water and rocks below.

Some of the men were caught under the car. There was no help at hand, the members of the party dragging themselves to the bank where they lay until morning. Among the injured is Miss Elizabeth Shirley, whose jawbone was broken and she was internally injured. Miss Shirley is the famous Kentucky beauty who created a sensation in the east, where she was a guest of the Vanderbilt in Newport, R. I. The party was returning from Mammoth Cave.

Preparing to Attack England?

St. Petersburg, July 13.—The Novoye Vremya prints a sensational story today in which it reiterates its charge that Germany is preparing to fight Great Britain. It declares that the German war office has plans mapped out in detail for the landing of a tremendous force on the east coast of England and also Scotland. Germany also plans, according to the Novoye Vremya, to arm 300,000 German residents of England, who will aid her invading armies. The paper says that Germany is thoroughly enraged over the increasing friendliness of Great Britain and Russia, and that Emperor William believes he is in a good position to teach King Edward, his royal uncle, a terrible lesson.

Test Vote.

New York, July 13.—Fifty-three Bryan votes, eleven for Debs, one each for Taft and Hearst, and 16 non-committal votes were cast in a test vote of the delegates to a meeting of the Central Federation Union here, which is causing excited comment in labor circles today. Of the sixteen who held back, many expressed a preference for Bryan, but said they would not decide on their allegiance until the campaign was further advanced. Of the democratic and republican platforms many views were expressed, but on the whole the former was favored. The anti-injunction plank of Bryan's annunciation of principles being regarded more favorably to union men.

Hearing Postponed.

White Plains, N. Y., July 13.—Without deciding whether or not Harry Kendall Thaw, increased for murder of Archibald Sturges White in June, 1906, shall have a jury trial on his sanity, Justice Mills today adjourned the hearing on his application for that privilege until the third Monday in September, and in the meantime sent Thaw back to Poughkeepsie jail. Justice Mills at first favored Jerome's plan of sending Thaw back to Matteawan asylum for the insane, but finally decided on placing him in the custody of Sheriff Shanley of Dutchess county.

Quiet Election.

Panama, July 13.—Reports from all over the isthmus today show that yesterday's presidential election, in which Jose Domingo de Obaldia was the only candidate, passed off without any disturbance. Few of the friends of Senator Ricardo Arias, however, who withdrew from the race a few days ago, went to the polls, and the vote was unusually small. There was no need of the hundreds of United States marines, which had been landed in anticipation of a clash of the Obaldia and Arias factions, and they will be removed immediately.

Forest Fires.

Portland, Me., July 13.—Half a million dollars is the estimate placed today upon the loss wrought by forest fires sweeping through Maine. The fires extend along the coast from York river to the Penobscot, and are burning in many inland points. In the Kineo district alone $100,000 worth of timber has been destroyed. Bangor is almost surrounded by a multitude of fires, and Brunswick is another fire center.

Taft Preparing his Speech.

Hot Springs, Va., July 13.—With all political waters barred, William Howard Taft settled today to the work of preparing his speech in acceptance of the republican presidential nomination. Taft is taking measures to divorce his candidacy from too close association with President Roosevelt was indicated today by the removal of the telephone to Oyster Bay.

Conference with Bryan.

Lincoln, Neb., July 13.—President Roosevelt and his policies will be let severely alone by the democrats during their campaign. This course was decided upon by W. J. Bryan, following a statement to him by Theo. A. Bell, of California, that if Roosevelt is attacked, the democrats will lose California. Bryan and others will, therefore, not follow the lead of Permanent Chairman Clayton, who exhortated the president in his speech in Denver. Any shafts to be aimed at the republican policies will be directed against Taft and not Roosevelt.

John W. Kern, vice presidential candidate, arrived here today for a conference with Bryan. Samuel Gompers, Frank Morrison and James Duncan, of the Federation of Labor, also stopped off today to "talk things over" with the presidential candidate. Gompers already has his sword unsheathed for Bryan and the democratic platform.

"I will vote for Bryan and make every honorable effort to effect his election. We ask only what is fair and just, no special privileges.

Justice and equality are God-given. I am not a democratic partisan. I was once a republican, but the republican party repudiates and rejects all that has heart throbs in it together with the principles of justice and equality. The democrats in their platform have declared for this. I speak only for myself, however. I won't predict how the labor vote will go. I am, of course, satisfied with the labor plank in the democratic platform.

It is reported here that Richard Croker, the old boss of Tammany Hall, is coming over from Ireland to assist the Bryan campaign in New York.

Deaths from the Heat.

New York, July 13.—An intensely hot day following Sunday's hot wave in which twelve died of the heat and scores of prostrations kept ambulances on the run, promised little relief in New York today. A suicide and an attempted suicide by men driven insane by extreme heat occurred during the morning. Less than an inch and a half of rain has fallen in and about New York since May 30, and this drought is withering truck gardens. The precipitation is about one-tenth of the normal.

Brockton, Mass., July 13.—The excessive heat of yesterday caused three deaths in this city.

Suffering from Overwork.

Rome, July 13.—Cardinal Rampolla is in a serious condition owing to overwork. His nervous system has suffered a complete breakdown, and on the orders of his physicians he will go to Switzerland to recuperate. Cardinal Rampolla was one of the strong candidates for the papacy at the time Pius X was elected. Only lately have the relations between him and the pope become really cordial. For years Rampolla is said to have harbored a feeling of bitterness as a result of what he alleged was the unfair treatment accorded him in the papal election.

Burglar Shoots.

San Francisco, July 13.—Shortly before daylight a burglar prowling through his home roused Knight W. Burboe. Burboe arose and lighted a lamp to investigate. As he stepped into the hall from his bedroom there was a crack of a revolver and the lamp was shattered in his hand. Fire dropped into the oil receptacle and as Burboe dropped it, the lamp exploded throwing burning oil over his wife and child, who were sleeping in the room. Both were seriously burned before the flames could be extinguished, and in the confusion the crackshot burglar escaped.

Predicts Bryan will be Elected.

New York, July 13.—"Bryan will carry New York," said Chas. F. Murphy, the big chief of Tammany when with a score of his sub-chiefs he reached New York today after a visit to Bryan at Lincoln as he came through from Denver.

Will Encourage Sports.

St. Louis, July 13.—Candidate Taft has added a plank to his campaign, on which he will run in the pending campaign. He will encourage sports. Taft voiced his plank in a telegram to the St. Louis Star-Chronicle. A telegram was sent him asking his opinion regarding sports. The answer came from Hot Springs, Va., today, and reads: "I am a supporter of football, baseball and athletic sports."

SEVERE STORM.

The high temperature of yesterday was brought to a close shortly after 6 o'clock in the evening by one of the fiercest storms that has passed over this city in many years. Fortunately no one was injured, nor was the damage serious in any instance, although while the storm was at its height considerable anxiety was manifest, as the disturbance brought to the minds of many the tornado of 1896.

It was apparent early yesterday morning that the hot wave predicted last week had arrived on time, and that the city and neighborhood was destined to suffer for a time, at least. As the day advanced the mercury in the thermometer rose higher and higher and early in the afternoon the temperature reached the hundred mark.

Later the western heavens became obscured and by six o'clock a storm had settled over the city. There was no indication, however, that a hurricane was accompanying it, and most people, realizing the fact that a drought had prevailed hereabouts for some time, rejoiced to see that a shower was coming. A refreshing wind was blowing and the flash of lightning and the sound of thunder were being welcomed when the rain began to fall. The wind in the meantime increased in velocity until it assumed hurricane proportions. Rain mingled with some hail was being whirled in horizontal sheets, limbs of trees were sent flying in the air, bricks were blown from chimneys, signs were knocked down, electric wires prostrated and roofs damaged.

There was great consternation on the river at the time. Most of the naphtha launches and other pleasure boats had been rescued either at docks at this point or on the opposite shore. Some, however, were caught out in the river and the occupants had thrilling experiences. A sail boat was capsized near Fort Foote, but the occupants were rescued.

The high wind tore a number of small boats from their moorings at this city and blew them out in the river or to the Maryland shore. A large sand scow was driven across the river. It grounded on the flats where it remained until today.

The blow was comparatively brief, and in a short time the fury of the wind had ceased, although the rain continued to fall, while the heavens were kept aglow with lightning and the sound of thunder was constant.

By this time limbs of trees had been scattered through every street in the city, while electric railway, electric light and telephone and telegraph wires were prostrated. Trees in different parts of the city had been uprooted, and in some instances buildings had been damaged. The roof of a house occupied by colored people on Franklin street was lifted from the building. The frame shed at Spring Park, at the extreme western end of King street, was overturned and the roof of the Southern Railway round house damaged.

During the prevalence of the storm considerable anxiety was caused by fire should break out from crossed electric wires, and the firemen had everything in readiness to respond to any emergency. Two fires did occur, but they were subdued before any material damage resulted. The roof of W. P. Woolls and Son's store, southwest corner of Wolfe and Royal streets, caught fire, presumably from an electric wire. An extinguisher from Mr. E. L. Entwistle's store soon subdued the flames. Another small blaze was discovered in a store conducted by Mr. Alex. Bowie, on south Washington street. It, too, was soon subdued.

The operation of electric trains in this city was impeded for some time as the result of the storm. In many cases wires were down and trees thrown across the track. A tree on south Royal street in falling broke down the railway wires.

In some cases large limbs, partially broken, hung over the rails and obstructed the passage of trains. The most serious conditions prevailed on south Royal street, and trains from the Mount Vernon division were kept south of Wilkes for several hours until the track was cleared.

Nearly a hundred telephones were put out of service by the storm, and although linemen went to work as soon as possible many were not placed in working order until today.

During the storm yesterday the telegraphic wires at Fort Hunt were considerably damaged, and communication with Washington was suspended until this morning, when a corps of men under Electrician Single on put the line in order.

The largest tree in this city, which is on the north side of Queen street, near Fairfax, was blown down by the storm yesterday.

About 15 electric light poles in the Potomac yards, near this city, were felled by the storm yesterday evening. As a result of the storm, a portion of the city was in darkness last night as a result of damage to poles and wires. For awhile it was dangerous on the streets, owing to crossed electric and telephone wires.

Lightning continued to flash and thunder was heard until about 9 o'clock at night.

The reports circulated this morning to the effect that a man and a woman had been drowned by the capsizing of a power boat, and that a man had been drowned near the shipyard were groundless.

The storm was equally as severe in Fairfax and Alexandria counties as in this city, and many trees were prostrated. At Luna Park the fencing at the lagoon was blown down.

People from Fairfax county today say that considerable hail fell west of this city, and that many houses were damaged and fruit stripped from the trees. The alto on the farm of Mr. Wm. Simpson, southwest of this city, was destroyed.

DOLARES LAW VALID.

Last week a lady owning several houses on Queen street was cited to appear before the Police Court and show cause why she should not be fined for allowing other than rain water to run from the houses on the street, as a public sewer is on the square on which the buildings are situated. The defendant was represented by Col. F. L. Smith who made a strong argument against the constitutionality of the law. He also took the ground that the law which virtually compelled people to tap sewers imposed a hardship upon those who own unremunerative property on streets through which sewers pass. Justice Oaton reserved his decision until this morning, when he decided that the law as framed is valid; that while there is no specific ordinance requiring property owners to tap sewers, the present law forbids the occupants of houses on streets where sewers have been constructed to allow other than rain water to flow from the same on such streets. The justices, however, dismissed the owner of the houses, as she is not the proper defendant, from the fact that the law is directed against the occupants of houses who allow wash or kitchen water to run on sewered streets. In cases where the owners of such houses reside in them, they, of course, will be made the defendants.

FIRST WARD DEMONSTRATION.

There was a large gathering on Windmill Hill, in the southeastern section of the city, last Saturday evening, it having been previously announced that a ratification meeting would be held there to affirm the action of the Denver convention in nominating Messrs. Bryan and Kern for president and vice president. No speeches were made, but the demonstration was earnest throughout. A small cannon belched forth at intervals amid the hurrahs of the gathering, while many cannoncrackers were discharged. After dark fire works added to the enthusiasm. The committee having in charge the celebration contemplated erecting a stand on the hill in the near future as well as a pole from which the names of Bryan and Kern will be thrown to the breeze. Other demonstration will be held during the summer and fall.

THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

A. J. Morris, generally known as "Happy Jack," who during the past twelve or fifteen years has appeared at intervals in Alexandria, had a thrilling experience when the storm broke over this city late yesterday evening. Morris had taken refuge in the frame structure used as the electric railway station at Spring Park, at the extreme western end of King street. The station consists of a three-sided building, the western end being open. The wind turned the box completely over, carrying Morris with it down the bank. He managed to extricate himself, and while the wind was blowing "great guns," and he was being pelted with rain and hail, amid flashing lightning and roaring thunder, he dragged himself away from the scene, bruised but not materially injured.

Do You Remember?

And the other fishing days when you got up before dawn and stole down stairs to the dim kitchen—a drink of milk, a doughnut and a triangle of pie, then you stole out quietly to the barn and got the spading fork; then the search, armed with fork and tomato can, under the broad eaves of the ruffled barbed, back of the henhouse and down by the cow barn until you had enough worms for the day's sport. Then of course you left the fork sticking in the ground—you never would learn to put things away—and started off, through the garden and orchard, stopping long enough for a handful of currants and a pocketful of raspberries—over the pasture bars, eating a handful of huckleberries or low bush blackberries here and there; into the wood road—very dark and still in the dawn—where you stepped along very quietly so as not to disturb the bears (you knew perfectly well there were no bears, but you rather enjoyed the creepy sensation); then on through the deep wet meadow grass to the river, where the sun was now beginning to burn away the wisps of mist and the red winged blackbirds were making a tremendous fuss over their house-keeping. You reached the river bank at the point hole or the big rock or the old willow (of course you know the exact place), and then you started fishing—Atlantic.

Suction.
People often speak of chimneys "drawing." We also speak of the suction of a pump. There is not so much harm in these expressions, except that they are liable to lead us away from the true state affairs. But in truth there is no such thing as suction. Suction is merely partial or entire absence of pressure in one place which enables the greater pressure of air or fluid in another place to rush in. In the case of the chimney the heated air in it does not weigh so much as an equal volume of cold air, and if the air in the chimney, the air in the room and the outside air were all the same temperature there would be no tendency to any motion. But when the air in the chimney is hot it does not press downward so much as the colder surrounding air presses upward. Consequently an upward current is started and will continue if the air in the chimney is kept hot—A. S. Ackerman in London Express.

Sleepwalking.
Women and children are more apt to suffer from somnambulism than men, possibly because their brain is more delicately poised and therefore more easily influenced by dreams. A somnambulist nearly always walks with his eyes wide open, his pupils being much dilated. He is a dreamer able to act his dreams, and in this state the timid become fearless, the weak strong and the stupid brilliant. Their somnambulist condition presents many curious anomalies. The somnambulist's sense of hearing is often suspended, for, generally speaking, he will answer questions even if whispered, but often the same ear is deaf to loud noises. The sense of smell is frequently altered. Brimstone and phosphorus are said to be pleasant scents to the somnambulist, and many cannot tell wine from water, as the sense of taste becomes perverted or entirely suspended. Some people walk periodically in their sleep, while others do so spasmodically. One German doctor goes to the extreme of asserting that somnambulist are attracted by the moon, and thus they walk on roofs of houses and at great heights because they derive a peculiar pleasure from contemplating the moon.

A Tiny Death Dealer.

A most agonizing death is caused by an insect half the size of a pea—a small black spider. It lives in Peru, in South America, but a few specimens have reached Europe in shipments of timber. Not long ago a dock laborer was unlucky enough to come upon one in the Victoria docks while unloading a bark. The tiny death dealer dropped upon the back of his hand and dug its fangs into his flesh. The bite itself was nothing, but as soon as the poison began to work the man fainted with pain. Soon afterward he came to and lived three days before the end came. This spider's venom spreads through all the tissues, causing the most fearful agony a human being can have to bear. The worst of it is that the victim lives at least two days, enduring unthinkable anguish the whole time. This spider is luckily not common. It is known as the "specky," and when a man who knows what the bite means is bitten he generally blows out his brains—London Chronicle.

Extreme Obedience.

The Youngs had unexpectedly dropped in on the Baileys just as dinner was about to be served. The hostess, considerably disturbed, called her little daughter Helen aside and explained that there would not be enough oysters to go around and added, "Now, you and I will just have some of the broth, and please do not make any fuss about it at the table."

Little Helen promised to remember and say nothing. But when the oysters were served Helen discovered a small oyster in her plate which had accidentally been landed up with the broth. This puzzled the little one, as she could not recall any instructions covering this contingency. After studying a few moments she dipped the oyster up with her spoon and, holding it up as high as she could, piped out, "Mamma, mamma, shouldn't Mrs. Young have this oyster too?"—Christian Register.

Countess Hertford's Bell.

Edward Seymour, earl of Hertford, in the days of Queen Elizabeth married as his third wife a beautiful young widow who had been engaged to Sir George Rodney, but whom she jilted for Lord Hertford. Sir George Rodney traveled to Amesbury and, putting up at the inn, awaited the homecoming of the earl and countess, who were expected to arrive the next day. The infatuated man wrote a dying ode to his fickle love, using his blood as ink, and upon the arrival of the bride party he went out to meet them. Lady Hertford was agitated and terrified at the appearance of her old lover, and before Sir George could be prevented he drew his sword and, falling on it, expired at Lady Hertford's feet. The countess presented a bell to Amesbury church perhaps as a slight penance for her fickleness. The inscription runs:
Be strong in faith, prayes God well, Frances, Countess Hertford's bell.

Stars That Outshine the Sun.

One of the government astronomers, referring to stars that are so distant that they have no measurable parallax, asserts that one of these brilliant Canopus, can be said with confidence to be thousands of times brighter than our sun. Whether we should say 20,000, 10,000 or 5,000 no one can decide. The first magnitude stars, Rigel and Spica, also are at an immeasurable distance and must, in view of their actual brightness, enormously outshine the sun.

The 'Anged and Un'anged.

An American actor was once seeing London from the top of a bus when they swung down the Strand he asked the driver to point out the places of interest. "Right you are, sir," agreed the driver, touching his hat. "There's Luggitt 'ill, where they 'ang 'em." A little later, "There's parliament 'ouses, where they make the laws wot does it, across the way. An' there's Westminster habber, where they buried the good 'uns wot didn't get 'anged'."

His Only Chance.

"Why did you shake your fist at the speaker?"
"Well," replied the congressman, "I didn't want the whole session to slip by without my having made a motion of some kind."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Calmness under contradiction is demonstrative of great stupidity or strong intellect.—Zimmerman.

"E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill.—Gentlemen:—In 1897 I had a disease of the stomach and bowels. In the spring of 1902 I bought a bottle of Kodol and the benefit I received all the gold of Georgia could not buy. May you live long and prosper. Yours very truly,
C. N. CORNELL, Redding, Ga., Aug. 27, 1907." Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.
